

Is qualitative thesis/dissertation coaching right for you?

Written by Daniel Neff

Wednesday, 27 April 2011 03:08 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 May 2011 03:13

Is qualitative thesis/dissertation coaching right for you?

- Do you feel that you are not receiving enough guidance from your mentor and/or committee?
- Have you hit a roadblock that is preventing you from completing your study?
- Are you having a difficult time locating participants and need some advice?
- Do you need assistance with the development of your study design?
- Would you benefit from a mock defense for your proposal, thesis or dissertation prior to the real event?
- Would you benefit from a content review of your academic document to ensure logical flow of ideas, strong structural layout, and a clear concise presentation of your ideas?

If you answered YES to any of these questions, then qualitative thesis/dissertation coaching is right for you.

Is qualitative thesis/dissertation coaching right for you?

Written by Daniel Neff

Wednesday, 27 April 2011 03:08 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 May 2011 03:13

What services do I provide?

Since I have been in your shoes, I understand how difficult and stressful the thesis/dissertation process can be for a student. The quarters and semesters can seem to swiftly pass you by with little progress being made. The longer it takes to graduate from the program the longer it will be before you embark on a new career or receive a promotion in the workplace. In order to expedite the completion of your study, I provide one-on-one coaching, support, and guidance to assist you with completing your thesis/dissertation. I can provide advice on how to overcome the obstacles that are preventing you from successfully completing your qualitative study. I provide services in the following areas: study design and development, participant recruitment, content review of your document, defense preparation, overcoming barriers to progress, and provide encouragement and support throughout the research process. I do not provide quantitative research assistance, but if you email me I can refer you onto another coach who can assist you.

What are the advantages of working with a qualitative thesis/dissertation coach?

Is qualitative thesis/dissertation coaching right for you?

Written by Daniel Neff

Wednesday, 27 April 2011 03:08 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 May 2011 03:13

- Individualized service
- Benefit from the coach's first hand dissertation experience
- Support through the stresses and challenges of the research process
- Overcome barriers to progress
- Continue to make progress when your mentor/committee is not available
- Properly prepare for your proposal or final defense

How do I provide the coaching services?

Once you have decided that these services would be beneficial to you, schedule your initial consultation using the appointment booking application. The initial 30 minute consultation is free of charge. During the consultation, we will discuss your study, the barriers to your success, and how I can assist you with completing your project. If after the initial consultation you decide the coaching services are right for you, you can arrange follow up sessions through the booking application. The mediums in which I can provide coaching services through are: telephone, instant messaging and AnyMeeting formats.

How much does it cost?

Is qualitative thesis/dissertation coaching right for you?

Written by Daniel Neff

Wednesday, 27 April 2011 03:08 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 May 2011 03:13

While coaching services require a small financial expenditure, the costs of services should be viewed as an investment in your future. The ability to complete your study and graduate from your program quicker can result in saving thousands of dollars in educational costs. The services I provide are competitively priced to ensure you receive quality coaching at an excellent value. My schedule of fees is listed below:

Schedule of fees

- 60-minute AnyMeeting session (60-minute desktop, web, and conference call in one using AnyMeeting. This service is helpful for direct assistance with your thesis/dissertation documents, images, and presentations) - $80

- 30-minute AnyMeeting session (30-minute desktop, web, and conference call in one using AnyMeeting. This service is helpful for direct assistance with your thesis/dissertation documents, images, and presentations) - $50

Is qualitative thesis/dissertation coaching right for you?

Written by Daniel Neff

Wednesday, 27 April 2011 03:08 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 May 2011 03:13

- 60-minute phone session (60-minute session to discuss your thesis/dissertation related issues and concerns) - $70

- 30-minute phone session (30-minute session to discuss your thesis/dissertation related issues and concerns) - $40

- Content review (Review to ensure logical flow of ideas, strong structural layout, and a clear concise presentation of your ideas) - $1.50 per page

- Thesis/dissertation defense preparation (60-minute minute mock thesis/dissertation defense. The package also includes a content review of your document to ensure high quality feedback and questioning during the mock defense) - $175